

CONGRESSMAN TENER GIVEN OVATION WHEN HE APPEARS

Fellow Congressmen Crowd Around Popular Gubernatorial Candidate to Offer Congratulations.

FRIENDS OVER COUNTRY ARE GREATLY PLEASED

Dispatches from the National capital state that Congressman John K. Tener was given a tremendous ovation in the halls of Congress when he appeared on the job again Thursday. A vote was in progress when Mr. Tener entered the chamber, but his appearance was the signal for a round of applause that Speaker Cannon did not try to stop. Members both Republican and Democratic flocked around Mr. Tener to shake hands and congratulate him upon his nomination for Governor.

Representative John M. Reynolds of Bedford, the Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor, came into the House soon after Mr. Tener, and he, too, was greeted with a demonstration.

Yesterday afternoon Representative Tener and Reynolds met and talked over some matters affecting the campaign this fall, though they did not attempt to formulate any plans. A question that confronts both of them is as to the proper time to resign as members of the House of Representatives. Tener has been renominated for Congress, though Reynolds has not. In this respect their circumstances differ, but it must be decided before fall when their resignations will go in, so that their successors can be elected for the unexpired term.

It is probable that Tener will present his resignation as a Congressman about the first of November, in order that a nomination may be made for the short term on the name of the nominee placed upon the ticket. He has not definitely decided this point as yet, though he wishes to arrange matters so that the district will not be without representation at any time.

Mr. Tener will return to Charleroi on Saturday night and will spend the Fourth here. He has asked his friends that there be no demonstration in his honor and his wish probably will be adhered to in view of the fact that he will probably reach here on Sunday.

On the night of July 4 Mr. and Mrs. Tener will leave for New York, where they will join Joseph G. Fanning and wife and P. T. Powers and wife of New York and the party will leave on July 5 for an automobile trip to Buffalo. At Buffalo they will take a boat for Detroit, where Mr. Tener goes to attend the convention of Elks. At the close of the convention he will return to Charleroi to attend to some private business and then he will go to some seashore place in New England, where he will spend the month of August and get ready for the fall campaign.

Mr. Tener said today that he had not conferred with Chairman Walton or any of the leaders regarding his plans for the campaign, but supposed the canvass would not open before the latter part of October. He hopes to visit every section of the State on a speaking tour.

Telegrams and letters of congratulation continue to pour in and Mr. Tener's secretary is working overtime to reply to them. While the most of these go to Washington, where Mr. Tener is attending to his official duties, many are received here. Messages have been received here from the following: W. H. Ticknor, district attorney of Buffalo, N. Y.; J. A. Samis, Sioux City, Ia.; grand exalted ruler of the B. P. O. Elks; Wiley Morgan, Knoxville, Tenn.; Thos. B. Mills, Superior, Wis.; Chas. W. Murphy, president of the Chicago National League baseball team; Chas. C. Schmidt, mayor of Wheeling, W. Va.; L. H. Wanaamaker, Chaleston, S. C.; R. L. Holland, Colorado Springs, past grand exalted ruler of the Elks, and Charles Kelley of Boston. The latter was Mr. Tener's opponent when he was elected grand treasurer of the Elks at Cincinnati in 1904.

In addition to these are scores of letters which are arriving on every mail. They are from Governors of States and other officials, prominent Elks in all parts of the United States and from personal friends. These are being forwarded to Washington as fast as they are received here.

DR. DIXON WILL PROVIDE SERUM AS PREVENTATIVE

Health Commissioner Dixon plans to fight for the lives of poor children of Pennsylvania who may be in danger of tetanus by distributing anti-tetanus serum free of charge to such needy ones as may be injured by explosives on July 4.

The serum will be distributed at 42 points throughout Pennsylvania, chosen by reason of their accessibility. The danger of tetanus from explosive wounds is very great, as the appalling sacrifice of lives in the past shows. If, promptly after the wound is received, the injured one is treated with immunizing doses of anti-tetanus serum the danger of lockjaw developing is warded off, just as diphtheria antitoxin is used to protect children who have been exposed to that disease. That no poor child in Pennsylvania shall die for want of this preventive treatment is the purpose of Health Commissioner Dixon.

PLAYGROUNDS MAY BE ESTABLISHED NEAR RESERVOIR

At a meeting of the Playground's committee with the Business Men's Association, the school board, and council yesterday afternoon a special committee consisting of John B. Schafer, C. O. Frye, and Dr. T. M. Faddis, was appointed to ascertain whether or not a site on the hill could be secured for a permanent playground. The site in question is one adjoining the reservoir.

These tetanus antitoxin stations will furnish the serum on the application of a physician who certifies that it is for the use of an indigent case. The doctor also agrees to furnish the State Department of Health with a clinical report of the case for tabulation and study.

The nearest points to this section where the anti-tetanus serum will be given out by the State is at Washington and Uniontown.

MAN FOUND ON LOT IN PROSTRATED CONDITION DIES AT THE HOSPITAL

A man who from all indications is Ernest Huesther of South Side, Pittsburgh, who was found prostrated and seemingly intoxicated on a vacant lot on McKean avenue yesterday afternoon late, died this morning at 1 o'clock at the Monessen-Charleroi hospital. The man was placed under arrest in the afternoon and when it was seen his condition was serious Dr. A. O. Davis was called. He attended the man and sent him to the hospital in the evening. Crooner Heffran was notified and will likely hold an inquest within a few days, after an investigation has been made. Dr. Davis this morning declined to give any cause for his death or until the coroner had investigated.

The man was evidently about 25 years old. He had been employed a part of this week at Martinet's bakery on Fallowfield, and some time ago at the bakery of P. Calistri. He has been here about a month. In his pocket was a letter containing the address of 172 Monastery street, Pittsburgh and it was learned through this that Huesther had three children living, being a widower. He lives at the Pittsburgh address. These children were notified by Deputy Coroner Crowley who has charge of the case until the arrival of Coroner Heffran. The body is at the undertaking rooms of Correll and Crowley.

The man was fairly well dressed, but had a haggard appearance. Nothing is known of his character.

FOURTH OF JULY PARADE ARRANGED AND MARSHALS ARE APPOINTED FOR VARIOUS DIVISIONS BY COMMITTEE

At a meeting of the Fourth of July celebration committee in the borough building last night, final arrangements were made for the big parade and the divisions assigned. Reports were received from the various committees and everything is in good shape. The finance committee reported that enough money was in sight, and Supt. Pentz has issued invitations to all the judges of the near-by counties, and the indications are that some will accept. The formation of the parade has been fixed as follows:

First Division—Front on Fallowfield and Second, rear on Third. Kerfoot W. Daly, marshal; James J. Hott, first lieutenant; Captain James Gibson, second lieutenant. Ringgold Battalion in autos. John Majors, chief marshal of the day, headquarters, Second and Washington. Color bearers and aides. C. O. Frye and Capt. J. K. Hein, adjutants. John A. Wood band. Speakers and officials.

Second Division—Front on Third and Washington, rear on Fifth. Chas. Steele, marshal; Dr. J. W. Macon first lieutenant; Dr. J. Clive Enos, second lieutenant. Ten troops of horsemen. Volunteer fire departments.

Third Division—Front on Fifth and Washington, rear on Sixth. R. H. Rush, marshal; John Rieckey first lieutenant; D. M. McCloskey Esq., second lieutenant. Charleroi Italian band. All lodges and boys brigades.

Fourth Division—Front on Sixth and Washington, rear on Seventh. David H. Glunt, marshal; John Slotter, first lieutenant; Thomas Meikle, second lieutenant. Naomi band. All labor unions.

Fifth Division—Front on Seventh and Washington, rear on Lincoln. John D. Berryman, marshal; J. W. Cordes, Sr., first lieutenant; Robert Phillips' second lieutenant. All floats, carriages and vehicles. These will disband at Fifth and Washington.

The parade will form at 9 o'clock and move at 9:30 sharp. The line of march is down Second to McKean, down McKean to Ninth, up Ninth to Fallowfield, to Second, up Second to Washington, down Washington to Fifth, up Fifth to Crest, out Crest to Fourth and reviewing stand.

METHODISTS TRIM CATHOLICS IN A PRETTY CONTEST

The Methodists took over the Catholics by the score of 4 to 2 last night in a good rattling contest, in which errors were anything but prominent. The Methodists touched up Beno for 11 hits, but sensational fielding prevented them from running up a big score.

The Methodists scored their first run in the third inning on three singles by Wise, Proten and Riggs, and one in the fourth when Proten was walked, stole second, and made the total on P. Bege's single. Their last two came in the sixth on McKean's single, Buchanan's error, and Wise's single.

The Catholics started off well, scoring two runs in the first when O'Neil and Dietz tallied after being given walks. The score:

BURGLAR STEALS TROUSERS CONTAINING SUM OF MONEY

Thief Enters Home of D. E. Kimmel Early This Morning and Gets Away With Ninety-Six Dollars

PASSES UP WATCHES AND OTHER VALUABLES

Without disturbing silverware or other valuables in plain view, a burglar this morning entered the home of Dr. D. E. Kimmel, the well known liveryman and veterinarian of 612 Fallowfield, and took from his room his trousers in which was $96 and other articles including a good watch. The trousers were found this morning not far from the house, the money gone, but nothing else having been removed from the pockets.

Entrance to the house had been made through a rear window. The window had proved no worthy obstacle of the burglar, and he evidently had no trouble in raising it. He then had passed through the dining room, up the stairs to the front room, where Mr. Kimmel slept, and took the trousers from a rocking chair where they had been laid. Four gold watches and other jewelry were in plain view in the room, three rings on the dresser, and a pocketbook containing a number of bills was on the dresser but they were unmolested. A revolver lying on the mantle was not disturbed.

Dr. Kimmel carried $90 in bills of $5 $2 and $1 denomination in one pocketbook and in another he had $6.00 in change. Besides the gold watch and a church league job he had a dog license check No. 176, a pen knife, a brass door key and a half plug of tobacco in his pockets, but the burglar had not seen fit to remove any of them. The trousers were found early this morning by a rail-roader, and returned to the owner through Officer Alva Osborne.

The burglar did his work very quietly, for Dr. Kimmel was not aroused after he retired at 1:30 o'clock until 6 o'clock this morning, when he discovered his loss. He had been kept up late at night by business.

The police are working to establish any clue by which they may make arrests, but so far have been unsuccessful.

CRIME IS CHARGED TO PRIEST

Rev. Acacius Kaminisky, the priest of the Greek Catholic church of Charleroi, has been arrested on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Hugh J. McShea, at McAdoo, Pa., charged with a serious offense by John Karnies of that place on behalf of his 16-year-old daughter. Rev. Kaminisky will be taken to McAdoo in all probability today or tomorrow. He claims that there is an attempt being made to blackmail him.

Rev. Kaminisky was arrested yesterday. He was very indignant, and insisted that he be allowed his free doom. No bond was forthcoming, and he having a funeral at which to officiate, paid two officers to see that he did not escape. Life in the lockup being distasteful to him he employed Officer Theron Provance to sit up all last night with him, at his home.

Rev. Kaminisky claims that the girl in question is dead. He says that the attempt is being made to blackmail him through another priest, in order that to compel him to pay a sum to have the charge withdrawn. He is stout in his defense of the allegations, and protests that he will fight to the bitter end. Rev. Kaminisky came here, it is stated, from McAdoo, to assume charge of the Greek Catholic parish upon the resignation of Rev. Seregally, who not long ago died in Germany. The present affair will probably result in a court trial.

No Meeting Last Night
There was no meeting of the Business Men's Association last night, owing to the fact that there was no quorum.

We understand that McClure Mason is the fortunate possessor of this territory of the sale of the Roosevelt-African book. Mr. Mason is to be congratulated.

FIELD DAY OBSERVANCE ON SUNDAY

Arrangements have about been completed for observing field day in Charleroi by the Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League, next Sunday. Special speakers have been assigned to the various churches where the day will be observed, and subscriptions and collections for the furtherance of the work will be taken. Among the speakers will be Rev. Harry M. Chalk, the editor of the Keystone Citizen, the Anti-Saloon paper. He will speak in the morning at the First Presbyterian church, and in the evening at the Baptist church.

The various assignments are as follows: Methodist—E. H. Franz, Esq., Pittsburgh, morning; Rev. W. H. Chase, Pittsburgh, Washington Avenue Presbyterian church, morning; Christian church, evening. Rev. H. M. Chalk, First Presbyterian church, morning; Baptist church, evening. Owing to the fact that Sunday is the date for the quarterly communion at the Christ Lutheran church, that church will not have any part in the observance.

Game Free July Fourth
The Church League game on the afternoon of July Fourth between the Catholics and the Christians will be free to all. The game will be called at 3:30.

As part of my time will be spent in other portions of the county I will ask all who are desirous of procuring Roosevelt's African Book to kindly send me their address via card and I will see that a prospectus will be shown you and opportunity given for subscription. McClure Mason, Territorial Agent.

WORTH MOUNTAINS OF GOLD

During Change of Life,
says Mrs. Chas. Barclay

Graniteville, Vt. — "I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness
and other annoying
symptoms, and I
can truly say that
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved
worth mountains
of gold to me, as it
restored my health
and strength. I never forget to tell
my friends what
Lydia E. Pinkham's
Vegetable Compound has done for me
during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish
this letter." — Mrs. CHAS. BARCLAY,
R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.
No other medicine for woman's ills
has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures of female ills as has Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
For more than 30 years it has been curing female complaints such as inflammation, ulceration, local weaknesses, fibroid tumors, irregularities,
periodic pains, backache, indigestion
and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely
through the period of change of life.
It costs but little to try Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and,
as Mrs. Barclay says, it is "worth mountains of gold" to suffering women.

How to Cure, Pimples, Eczema
and Dandruff.

We desire to say that when we took the agency for Zemo, we were convinced that it was a valuable remedy
for Eczema, pimples, and dandruff.
Yet, we must frankly admit that Zemo has far exceeded our expectations as a treatment for skin diseases. We are pleased to state that we shall continue the agency as Zemo has given splendid results wherever recommended. Our customers like Zemo too, because it is a clean vegetable liquid for external use.

Zemo effects its cures by drawing
to the surface of the skin and destroying the germ life that causes the disease, leaving the skin clear and healthy.
It does not soil the clothing or linen and can be used freely on infants.

With every purchase, we give a booklet on skin disease explaining in some words how any person can be cured at home of any form of skin or scalp diseases by this clean, scientific remedy. Piper Bros.

A Judicial Favor.
A verdant local reporter whose propensities incline to daring rather than to judgment and whose ardency in the quest of news is one of his marked characteristics approached a judge of the United States district court and solicited a little advance information on a case in progress in the judge's court.

"You see, judge," said the youngster to the astonished jurist, "we go to press in a few moments, and we all know your inclination to do a newspaper man a favor."

The venerable man eyed the youth sternly and said slowly and emphatically:

"That's fine, your honor. Thanks, very much. Just a few lines will do."

"I will do you this favor. I shall not send you to jail this time, but if you ever appear again with such a question your friends will not see you for some time."

The discomfited reporter retired ruminating on the mysteries of the law and the dignities pertaining to the judiciary.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Exclusiveness of Caste.
An English officer who some years ago was wounded in a battle in India and left lying all night among the native dead and wounded tells this story: "Next morning we spied a man and an old woman, who came to us with a basket and a pot of water, and to every wounded man she gave a piece of Jowree bread from the basket and a drink from her water pot. To us she gave the same, and I thanked heaven and her. But the Soobahdar was a high caste Rajput, and, as this woman was a Chumar, or of the lowest caste, he would receive neither water nor bread from her. I tried to persuade him to take it that he might live, but he said that in our state, with but a few hours more to linger, what was a little more or less suffering to us—why should he give up his fate for such an object? No; he preferred to die unpolluted."

The Origin of Oxygen.
That eminent scientist Lord Kelvin maintained that all the oxygen in the atmosphere probably originated from the action of sunlight upon plants. When our earth was a globe of hot liquid it contained no vegetable fuel and probably no free oxygen. But as it cooled off plants appeared on its surface, and these began to evolve oxygen through the medium of the sunbeams. Upon the oxygen thus derived we depend for the maintenance of life by breathing. When we burn coal or other vegetable fuel we use up oxygen, and it is to plants again that we owe the restoration of the oxygen thus lost to the air. If they failed to keep up a sufficient supply the atmosphere would gradually part with its oxygen, and the inhabitants of the earth would disappear in consequence of asphyxiation.

Clyde Fitch's Joke.
"Clyde Fitch was an indefatigable worker," said an actor who has played in many of the Fitch comedies. "When he had a play on the stocks he would labor over it day and night, often scarcely pausing for his meals and getting very little sleep; consequently his health suffered. He would work until on the verge of a nervous breakdown, and then his physician would step in and force him to knock off."

"During one of these periods of enforced idleness he was lounging in the Players club one day when Harry B. Smith, the prolific comic opera librettist, strolled in."

"What are you doing now?" asked Smith.

"I am in my doctor's hands," replied Fitch. "He tells me I'm in a bad way and has absolutely forbidden me to do any brain work."

"That's tough," said Smith. "How do you manage to put in the time?"

"Oh, I'm writing the libretto of a musical comedy," replied Fitch, with one of his cynical smiles.—New York Times.

Hair Monstrosities.
French theater managers in the eighteenth century had worse evils than picture hats to contend against. Marie Antoinette, who was short even according to French standards, set the fashion of high coiffures, and ultra-fashionable women prided themselves on measuring four feet from their chins to the tops of their heads. These structures took about six hours to erect, the hairdresser mounting a ladder in the process. Some coiffures were almost as broad as they were long, with wings sticking out about eight inches on each side of the head. For the "frigate" coiffure the hair was ripped in a huge pile to represent the waves of an angry sea and surmounted by a fully rigged ship. As a consequence of these monstrosities disturbances in theaters occurred almost daily until an ordinance was issued against the admission of women with high coiffures to the floor of the house.—Chicago News.

Yet He Meant Well.
Just as the train was leaving the Fifty-eighth street elevated station a man who had got off there hurried along the platform and spoke to a passenger sitting by an open window in the smoking car.

"Quick!" he cried. "Please hand me that package. I left it on the seat when I got out just now."

"Sure," said the passenger, picking up the bundle and tossing it out of the window.

"Thanks!"

"Hey, there! What are you doing that for?" demanded the wrathful, red faced man sitting next to him.

"Why, he—"

"You double dyed idiot, that package belonged to me! It was $15 worth of laces and ribbons I was taking home to my wife!"

Over the scene that followed let us draw a veil.—Chicago Tribune.

Stop and Consider

It is a well-established fact that at the People's Store you get honest-made clothing and they cost less than the inferior sort elsewhere. As a result of our recent successful, large cloth purchase of twenty-five to forty per cent. under market prices, the clothing we now offer for Men and Women is strictly hand-tailored and is positively the best qualities at prices lower than has ever been possible for such high-grade clothing.

Extraordinary Liberal Credit Terms

We wish it were possible for us to explain our modern credit charge system by different terms than the word "Credit", since nearly all the old-fashioned installment houses are using this expression. All we can say is that the kind of credit we offer is liberal and dignified in every respect, and has no embarrassing conditions. You simply select what you need and say "Charge it to my account." The most liberal credit ever known will be offered between now and July 4th.

Men's Strictly Tailored Fine Suits $14.95.

These suits at the above price have created a sensation. Some of our imitators are vainly trying to mislead the public by imitating our figures. All we ask of you is to intelligently compare them; examine the make of our suits; the fabrics are guaranteed all wool cashmeres, "True Blue" serges, and strictly pure worsteds. Try one on---see the graceful hang and perfect fit.

No Gag Rule

In direct opposition to the charges that the Republican State convention at Harrisburg was under the complete domination of bossism was the evidence of those who witnessed the proceedings. Probably every Charleroi man who visited Harrisburg on the excursion to root for his townsman, John K. Tener, the Republican nominee for Governor, witnessed the proceedings of the convention. Each and every one who was present will state that no attempt was made to apply gag rule, or to prevent competition in the nominations. There was nothing at any time to prevent any one of the nearly four hundred delegates present from making an objection to the proceedings, or to have interposed opposition. Every opportunity was given the convention for the nomination of other candidates before the nominations were closed.

There were 373 delegates or their proxies seated in the convention. These delegates were elected by the voters at the primary election, and their credentials were as sound and their representation as direct to the people as the successful candidates for Assembly chosen at the same election. That the party platform, resolutions and committee officers were prepared and slated in advance no one will deny—just as is always done at any and all conventions—but the delegates present could at any time have reversed or blocked proceedings had they been so disposed.

As a matter of fact the delegates were elected to represent the principles of Republicanism, and choose candidates to carry out their principles in the interests of the people. We in Charleroi know that no better exponent of these principles exist than in the person of John K. Tener, and we have every reason to believe that his colleagues on the ticket measure up to the same high standard.

A Modern Colossus

Since the editor of the Washington Observer and Reporter has created a political bogie out of James P. Mulvihill, every ill, even to the potato rot, is laid at the door of the latter. Commenting on this under the head of "A Modern Political Colossus," the Connellsville Courier says:

"The Washington Reporter blames the results of the Allentown Convention on one 'Jim' Mulvihill. Editor Acheson seems to think that Jim has much to answer for. He appears to be at the bottom of all kinds of Democratic and Republican evil. He bestrides Allentown and Harrisburg like a modern Colossus and his shadow sometimes falls athwart Atlantic City and stops the fish from biting."

"The Reporter insinuates that Colonel Guiley and Senator Penrose receives their inspiration from Jim. We are led to believe that Mulvihill is a bigger man than Dave Hill used to be. He looms so largely on the political horizon that his name is evidently a misnomer. It ought to be Mulvountain."

"Not the least of his terror and fascination lies in the great mystery of him and we constrained to inquire, Who is Jim? What is Jim? Why is Jim?"

The National Game.

As the season progresses interest in the Church Baseball League increases rather than diminishes, until the entire community has become as enthusiastic a brigade of fans as ever assembled at any of the National League or other professional games. Composed of clubs of every church denomination in the town—Protestant and Catholic—the players are noted for their gentlemanly conduct on the field and an entire freedom from rowdiness and contention that too frequently mars amateur baseball playing. Strangers who have witnessed the games have remarked upon the gentlemanly conduct of the players and the clean cut and athletic appearance of the young fellows who compose the various clubs. The different church congregations compose enthusiastic rooters for their respective teams, but the rivalry is good natured and proves stimulative instead of reactionary.

There was never an instance, perhaps, where the social and economic side of baseball was more strikingly demonstrated than by the Charleroi Church League. The eight clubs furnish contests enough to satisfy all, while the magnitude of the organization takes in about all the young fellows who like to play the game for the sport there is in it. Baseball is the cleanest imaginable sport, and is exciting enough and commands a degree of skill sufficient to call forth the best efforts of the players. The game affords a safe outlet for the sporting instinct that is inherent in the masculine element of the human family, and the entertainment it affords and the arrangement by which nearly all who desire can attend without neglect of duty, makes it a most effective civic movement for the community.

Secret For Secret.

In the days of Louis XIV, even warriors bandied epigrams with one another.

The Marechal de Grammont had taken a fortress by siege.

"I will tell you a secret," said its military governor after surrendering. "The reason of my capitulation was that I had no more powder."

"And, secret for secret," returned the marechal suavely, "the reason of my accepting it on such easy terms was that I had no more balls."

Not So Absurd.

"How absurd?"

"What's absurd?"

"Five years are supposed to have elapsed since the last act, and that man is wearing the same overcoat."

"Nothing absurd about that. He's takin' the part of a married man, isn't he?"

Spiteful.

Laziness travels so slowly that poverty soon overtakes him. —Franklin

Making a Lawn.

On his English tour an American was admiring the velvet smoothness of a certain sward, and, being possessed of land and an overpowering confidence that with money all things are possible, he asked the head gardener how to produce such a lawn.

Our Friends.

If we choose our friends for what they are, not for what they have, and if we deserve so great a blessing, then they will be always with us, preserved in absence and even after death, in the amber of memory. —Cicero.

Couldn't Talk.

De Style—You say that loving pair of deaf mutes were sitting in the parlor and didn't carry on a conversation? Gunbusta—They couldn't, for they were bedder hands. —New York Press.

I never knew an early rising, hard-working, prudent man, careful of his earnings and strictly honest, who complained of bad luck. —Addison.

Got Another Copy.

A well dressed man was standing outside a bookseller's shop in Charing Cross road, London, examining one of Balzac's works illustrated by Gustave Dore. "How much is this Balzac?" he asked an assistant outside.

"Twenty-five shillings," was the reply.

"Oh, that's far too much. I must see the manager about a reduction," continued the prospective customer, and, saluting the assistant to the word, he took up the book and went into the shop.

Approaching the bookseller, he took the book from under his arm and asked what he would give for it. "Seven shillings highest offer," he was told.

The offer was accepted, the man took his money and left.

"Well," queried the assistant later, after the man had gone, "were you able to hit it off with the gentleman, sir?"

"Oh, yes. I managed to get another copy of that edition of Balzac for 7 shillings."

Then the bookseller went out to lodge a complaint with the police. —London Telegraph.

A Victim of Leprosy.

"On my travels in Venezuela," said a New York man, "I stayed in a hotel with a young man in whose family there was the taint of leprosy, though he apparently did not have it. One night sitting at dinner he became angry at a waiter and brought his hand down on the table with full force. He instantly realized that he did not feel the blow and sat looking at his hand, his face whitening with horror. 'Give me your knife, Bob,' he said to his chum. He grabbed the pocketknife in a frenzy and stabbed the side of his hand with vicious cuts from finger tip to wrist. You may not know that leprosy appears in the side of the hand, numbness being a sign. The man did not feel the cuts. He arose from the table, knocking over his chair, rushed out into the courtyard of the hotel, and we heard the quick tang of a revolver shot, telling us how he had conquered the leper's curse by ending his life." —New York Times.

He Could Wield an Ax.

The skill of the old Maine shipbuilders in the use of the adz and broadax was wonderful. One old time yarn is of a carpenter who applied very drunk at a shipyard for employment. In order to have a little fun with him the foreman set him to give a proof of his skill by hewing out a wooden bolt with no chopping block but a stone. The carpenter accomplished his difficult task without marring the keen edge of the broadax and showed the foreman a neatly made bolt. Then he brought the ax down with a terrific blow that shattered its edge upon the stone. "I can hew fast rate on your chopping block," he blurted out. "but I'll be blamed if I can make the ax stick in it when I git through." The story runs that the foreman lost no time in employing such a workman.

Judges' Wigs.

The wig is only worn by English barristers to give them a stern, judicial appearance, and no one can say that it fails in this respect. The custom was originated by a French judge in the seventeenth century when, happening to don a marquis' wig one day, he found it gave him such a stern and dignified appearance that he decided to get one for himself and wear it at all times in court. This he did, and the result was so satisfactory from a legal point of view that not only judges, but barristers also, took up the custom throughout Europe. —London Graphic.

Acquitted.

"Sir," said the young woman, with what seemed to be indignation.

The young man looked embarrassed.

"Yes, I did kiss you," he admitted.

"but I was impulsively insane."

"That means that a man would be a lunatic to kiss me?"

"Well, any man of discretion would be just crazy to kiss you."

This seemed to end the strain, and, no jury being present to muddle affairs, a satisfactory verdict was reached.

Suspicious Routine.

Good Man—Ah, my poor fellow, I feel sorry for you! Why don't you work? When I was young, for ten years I was never in bed after 5-an-hour's work before breakfast, then five hours' work, then dinner, then four hours' more work, then supper, then bed, then up again at 5 the next morning.

Loafer—I say, guv'nor, where did ye serve yer time, San Quentin or Folsom? —San Francisco Star.

Not Mere Talk.

"I cannot live but a week longer viz. out you."

"Foolish talk, duke. How can you fix on a specific length of time?"

"Ze landlord fix on it, miss, not I." —Louisville Courier-Journal.

Easily Convinced.

Would the Contributor at editor's desk—Here's a joke, Mr. Editor, that I'll guarantee was never in print before. Editor after reading it—Don't doubt your word in the least, sir. —London Tit-Bits.

The Outlet.

Physiology Teacher—Clarence, you may explain how we hear things. Clarence—Pa tells 'em to ma as a secret, and ma gives 'em away at the bridge club. —Cleveland Leader.

His Question.

Edgar, aged six, was recently sent to school for the first time, and upon his return home he asked, "Papa, who taught Adam the alphabet?"

His Athletic Neighbor.

A young man inmate of a boarding house had been disturbed night after night by the bawling in the next room doing things with a punching bag he'd rigged up in the room some way. At breakfast each morning the young man would look over the crowd and wonder who the bag puncher might be, but there was no one in sight but a bunch of women and eight or ten men with narrow chests and retreating chins. One night he made up his mind to knock on the bag punching room's door and ask him to put over his exercise until daylight when all the world's awake. The man might be small enough to bulldoze even with all his athletics. The door opened and there, clad in a tight fitting red jersey, was a robust, buxom woman of perhaps thirty summers.

"And what did you say to her?" the young man was asked.

"I was so startled," replied he, "that I asked what afterward seemed to me the most natural request I could have made. I asked her if she'd lend me a couple of matches." —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Persistency of Colds.

Why is it that we are so heavily subject to colds? Other epidemic diseases—measles, typhoid, scarlet fever, diphtheria—may get hold on us once and there is an end; it is not usual to have any of them twice. We brow in our blood immunity. The poison of the disease evokes in us its proper antidote. Our blood cells make a sort of natural antitoxin and keep it in stock, so that we are henceforth protected against the disease. A well vaccinated nurse, for example, works with safety in a smallpox hospital, where the very air is infective, but her blood is so changed by vaccination that the smallpox cannot affect her. By scarlet fever, again, we are, as it were, vaccinated against scarlet fever. The reaction of our blood against the disease immunizes us. No such result follows influenza or a common cold. We brew nothing that is permanent. We are just as susceptible to a later invasion as we were to the invasion that is just over. —London Spectator.

The Festive Codfish.

A correspondent of the New York Post says that the codfish frequents "the tablelands of the sea." The codfish no doubt does this to secure as nearly as possible a dry, bracing atmosphere. This pure air of the submarine tablelands gives to the codfish that breadth of chest and depth of lungs that we have so often noticed. The glad, free smile of the codfish is largely attributed to the exhilaration of this oceanic altitudinism. The correspondent further says that the "codfish subsists largely on the sea cherry." Those who have not had the pleasure of seeing the codfish climb the cherry tree in search of food or clubbing the fruit from the heavily laden branches with chunks of coral have missed a very fine sight. The codfish when at home rambling through the submarine forests does not wear his vest unbuttoned as he does while loafing around the grocery stores of the United States. —Bill Nye.

A High Priced Fricassee.

Lord Alvanley, a noted wit and high liver in England a hundred years or so ago, insisted on having an apple tart on his dinner table every day throughout the year. On one occasion he paid a caterer $1,000 for a luncheon put up in a basket that sufficed a small boating party going up the Thames. Being one of a dozen men dining together at a London club where each was required to produce his own dish, Alvanley's, as the most expensive, won him the advantage of being entertained free of cost. This benefit was gained at an expense of $500, that being the price of a simple fricassee composed entirely of the "noix," or small pieces at each side of the back, taken from thirteen kinds of birds, among them being 100 snipe, 40 woodcocks and 20 pheasants—in all about 300 birds.

Our Eccentric Phrases.

Why do we always talk of putting on a coat and vest? Who puts on a coat before a vest? We also say putting on shoes and stockings. Who puts on shoes before the stockings? We also put up signs telling people to wipe their feet when we mean their boots or shoes. And a father tells a boy he will warm his jacket when he means to warm his pantaloons. We are a little eccentric in our phrases at times.

An Odd Epitaph.

The following epitaph is to be found in a cemetery within seven miles of New York's city hall:

Reader, pass on; don't waste your time. O'er bad biography and better rhyme. For what I am this crumbling clay insures. And what I was is no affair of yours.

In the Game.

"I am in the hands of my friends," said the political side-stepper.

"Yes," replied the harsh critic, "and every time your friends look over their hands they seem impatient for a new deal." —Washington Star.

The Proper Tree.

Curious Charley—Do nuts grow on trees, father? Father—They do, my son. Curious Charley—Then what tree does the doughnut grow on? Father—The "pantree," my son. —Purple Cow.

Never Good.

Fogg—That's a bad cold you have, old man. Fenderson—Did you ever hear of a good cold, you idiot? —Boston Transcript.

A fool's heart is in his tongue, but a wise man's tongue is in his heart. —Quarles.

CONGRESSMAN TENER GIVEN OVATION WHEN HE APPEARS

Fellow Congressmen Crowd Around, Popular Gubernatorial Candidate to Offer Congratulations.

FRIENDS OVER COUNTRY ARE GREATLY PLEASED

Dispatches from the National capital state that Congressman John K. Tener was given a tremendous ovation in the halls of Congress when he appeared on the job again Thursday. A vote was in progress when Mr. Tener entered the chamber, but his appearance was the signal for a round of applause that Speaker Cannon did not try to stop. Members both Republican and Democratic flocked around Mr. Tener to shake hands and congratulate him upon his nomination for Governor.

Representative John M. Reynolds of Bedford, the Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor, came into the House soon after Mr. Tener, and he, too, was greeted with a demonstration. Yesterday afternoon Representative Tener and Reynolds met and talked over some matters affecting the campaign this fall, though they did not attempt to formulate any plans. A question that confronts both of them is as to the proper time to resign as members of the House of Representatives. Tener has been renominated for Congress, though Reynolds has not. In this respect their circumstances differ, but it must be decided before fall when their resignations will go in, so that their successors can be elected for the unexpired term.

It is probable that Tener will present his resignation as a Congressman about the first of November, in order that a nomination may be made for the short term and the name of the nominee placed upon the ticket. He has not definitely decided this point as yet, though he wishes to arrange matters so that the district will not be without representation at any time. Mr. Tener will return to Charleroi on Saturday night and will spend the Fourth here. He has asked his friends that there be no demonstration in his honor and his wish probably will be adhered to in view of the fact that he will probably reach here on Sunday.

On the night of July 4 Mr. and Mrs. Tener will leave for New York, where they will join Joseph G. Fanning and wife and P. T. Powers and wife of New York and the party will leave on July 5 for an automobile trip to Buffalo. At Buffalo they will take a boat for Detroit, where Mr. Tener goes to attend the convention of Elks. At the close of the convention he will return to Charleroi to attend to some private business and then he will go to some seashore place in New England, where he will spend the month of August and get ready for the fall campaign.

Mr. Tener said today that he had not conferred with Chairman Walton or any of the leaders regarding his plans for the campaign, but supposed the canvass would not open before the latter part of October. He hopes to visit every section of the State on a speaking tour.

Telegrams and letters of congratulation continue to pour in and Mr. Tener's secretary is working overtime to reply to them. While the most of these go to Washington, where Mr. Tener is attending to his official duties, many are received here. Messages have been received here from the following: W. H. Ticknor, district attorney of Buffalo, N. Y.; J. A. Samis, Sioux City, Ia., grand exalted ruler of the B. P. O. Elks; Wiley Morgan, Knoxville, Tenn.; Thos. B. Mills, Superior, Wis.; Chas. W. Murphy, president of the Chicago National League baseball team; Chas. C. Schmidt, mayor of Wheeling, W. Va.; L. H. Wanamaker, Charleston, S. C.; R. L. Holland, Colorado Springs, past grand exalted ruler of the Elks, and Charles Kelley of Boston. The latter was Mr. Tener's opponent when he was elected grand treasurer of the Elks at Cincinnati in 1904.

In addition to these are scores of letters which are arriving on every mail. They are from Governors of States and other officials, prominent Elks in all parts of the United States and from personal friends. These are being forwarded to Washington as fast as they are received here.

MAN FOUND ON LOT IN PROSTRATED CONDITION DIES AT THE HOSPITAL

A man who from all indications is Ernest Habesther of South Side, Pittsburgh, who was found prostrated and seemingly intoxicated on a vacant lot on McKean avenue yesterday afternoon late, died this morning at 1 o'clock at the Monessen-Charleroi hospital. The man was placed under arrest in the afternoon and when it was seen his condition was serious Dr. A. O. Davis was called. He attended the man and sent him to the hospital in the evening. Crooner Heffran was notified and will likely hold an inquest within a few days, after an investigation has been made. Dr. Davis this morning declined to give any cause for his death or until the coroner had investigated.

The man was evidently about 25 years old. He had been employed a part of this week at Martinet's bakery on Fallowfield, and some time ago at the bakery of P. Calistri. He has been here about a month. In his pocket was a letter containing the address of 172 Monastery street, Pittsburgh and it was learned through this that Habesther had three children living, being a widower. He lives at the Pittsburgh address. These children were notified by Deputy Coroner Crowley who has charge of the case until the arrival of Coroner Heffran. The body is at the undertaking rooms of Correll and Crowley.

The man was fairly well dressed, but had a haggard appearance. Nothing is known of his character.

FOURTH OF JULY PARADE ARRANGED AND MARSHALLS ARE APPOINTED FOR VARIOUS DIVISIONS BY COMMITTEE

At a meeting of the Fourth of July celebration committee in the borough building last night, final arrangements were made for the big parade and the divisions assigned. Reports were received from the various committees and everything is in good shape. The finance committee reported that enough money was in sight, and Supt. Pentz has issued invitations to all the judges of the near-by counties, and the indications are that some will accept. The formation of the parade has been fixed as follows:

First Division—Front on Fallowfield and Second, rear on Third. Kerfoot W. Daly, marshal; James J. Hott, first lieutenant; Captain James Gibson, second lieutenant. Ringgold Battalion in autos, John Majors, chief marshal of the day, headquarters, Second and Washington. Color bearers and aides, C. O. Faye and Capt. J. K. Hein, adjutants. John A. Wood band. Speakers and officials.

Second Division—Front on Third and Washington, rear on Fifth. Chas. Steele, marshal; Dr. J. W. Maron first lieutenant; Dr. J. Clive Enos,

second lieutenant. Ten troops of horsemen. Volunteer fire departments.

Third Division—Front on Fifth and Washington, rear on Sixth. R. H. Rush, marshal; John Rickey first lieutenant; D. M. McCloskey Esq., second lieutenant. Charleroi Italian band. All lodges and boys brigades.

Fourth Division—Front on Sixth and Washington, rear on Seventh. David H. Glunt, marshal; John Slotter, first lieutenant; Thomas Meikle, second lieutenant. Naomi band. All labor unions.

Fifth Division—Front on Seventh and Washington, rear on Lincoln. John D. Berryman, marshal; J. W. Cordes, Sr., first lieutenant; Robert Phillips second lieutenant. All floats, carriages and vehicles. These will disband at Fifth and Washington.

The parade will form at 9 o'clock and move at 9:30 sharp. The line of march is down Second to McKean, down McKean to Ninth, up Ninth to Fallowfield, to Second, up Second to Washington, down Washington to Fifth, up Fifth to Crest, out Crest to Fourth and reviewing stand.

BURGLAR STEALS TROUSERS CONTAINING SUM OF MONEY

Thief Enters Home of D. E. Kimmel Early This Morning and Gets Away With Ninety-Six Dollars

PASSES UP WATCHES AND OTHER VALUABLES

Without disturbing silverware or other valuables in plain view, a burglar this morning entered the home of Dr. D. E. Kimmel, the well known liveryman and veterinarian of 312 Fallowfield, and took from his room his trousers in which was $96 and other articles including a good watch. The trousers were found this morning not far from the house, the money gone, but nothing else having been removed from the pockets.

Entrance to the house had been made through a rear window. The window had proved no worthy obstacle of the burglar, and he evidently had no trouble in raising it. He then had passed through the dining room, up the stairs to the front room, where Mr. Kimmel slept, and took the trousers from a rocking chair where they had been laid. Four gold watches and other jewelry were in plain view in the room, three rings on the dresser, and a pocketbook containing a number of bills was on the dresser but they were unmoistened. A revolver lying on the mantle was not disturbed.

Dr. Kimmel carried $90 in bills of $5 and $1 denomination in one pocketbook and in another he had $6.00 in change. Besides the gold watch and a church league fob he had a dog license check No. 176, a pen knife, a brass door key and a half plug of tobacco in his pockets, but the burglar had not seen fit to remove any of them. The trousers were found early this morning by a railroadman, and returned to the owner through Officer Alva Osborne.

The burglar did his work very quietly, for Dr. Kimmel was not aroused after he retired at 1:30 o'clock until 6 o'clock this morning, when he discovered his loss. He had been kept up late at night by business.

The police are working to establish any clue by which they may make arrests, but so far have been unsuccessful.

CRIME IS CHARGED TO PRIEST

Rev. Acacius Kaminisky, the priest of the Greek Catholic church of Charleroi, has been arrested on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Hugh J. McShea, at McAdoo, Pa., charged with a serious offense by John Karnies of that place on behalf of his 16-year-old daughter. Rev. Kaminisky will be taken to McAdoo in all probability today or tomorrow. He claims that there is an attempt being made to blackmail him.

Rev. Kaminisky was arrested yesterday. He was very indignant, and insisted that he be allowed his free doom. No bond was forthcoming, and he having a funeral at which to officiate, paid two officers to see that he did not escape. Life in the lockup being distasteful to him he employed Officer Theron Provance to sit up all last night with him, at his home.

Rev. Kaminisky claims that the girl in question is dead. He says that the attempt is being made to blackmail him through another priest, in order that to compel him to pay a sum to have the charge withdrawn. He is stout in his defense of the allegations, and protests that he will fight to the bitter end. Rev. Kaminisky came here, it is stated, from McAdoo, to assume charge of the Greek Catholic parish upon the resignation of Rev. Seregally, who not long ago died in Germany. The present affair will probably result in a court trial.

No Meeting Last Night

There was no meeting of the Business Men's Association last night, owing to the fact that there was no quorum.

We understand that McClure Mason is the fortunate possessor of this territory of the sale of the Roosevelt-African book. Mr. Mason is to be congratulated. 26221

Mr. M. Levaux is conducting the auction sale for J. W. McKean. 26211

FIELD DAY OBSERVANCE ON SUNDAY

Arrangements have about been completed for observing field day in Charleroi by the Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League, next Sunday. Special speakers have been assigned to the various churches where the day will be observed, and subscriptions and collections for the furtherance of the work will be taken. Among the speakers will be Rev. Harry M. Chaffant, the editor of the Keystone Citizen, the Anti-Saloon paper. He will speak in the morning at the First Presbyterian church, and in the evening at the Baptist church.

The various assignments are as follows: Methodist—E. H. Frank Esq., Pittsburgh, morning; Rev. W. H. Chase, Pittsburgh, Washington Avenue Presbyterian church, morning; Christian church, evening. Rev. E. M. Chalfant, First Presbyterian church, morning; Baptist church, evening. Owing to the fact that Sunday is the date for the quarterly communion at the Christ Lutheran church, that church will not have any part in the observance.

Game Free July Fourth

The Church League game on the afternoon of July Fourth between the Catholics and the Christians will be free to all. The game will be called at 3:30.

As part of my time will be spent in other portions of the county I will ask all who are desirous of procuring Roosevelt's African Book to kindly send me their address via card and I will see that a prospectus will be shown you and opportunity given for subscription. McClure Mason, Territorial Agent. 26221

W. Turnbull of 504 Seventh street received the cut glass dish given away last night at J. W. McKean's auction. Another present will be given this afternoon and night. 26221

DR. DIXON WILL PROVIDE SERUM AS PREVENTATIVE

Health Commissioner Dixon plans to fight for the lives of poor children of Pennsylvania who may be in danger of tetanus by distributing anti-tetanus serum free of charge to such needy ones as may be injured by explosives on July 4.

The serum will be distributed at 42 points throughout Pennsylvania, chosen by reason of their accessibility. The danger of tetanus from explosive wounds is very great, as the appalling sacrifice of lives in the past shows. If, promptly after the wound is received, the injured one is treated with immunizing doses of anti-tetanus serum the danger of lockjaw developing is warded off, just as diphtheria antitoxin is used to protect children who have been exposed to that disease. That no poor child in Pennsylvania shall die for want of this preventive treatment is the purpose of Health Commissioner Dixon.

PLAYGROUNDS MAY BE ESTABLISHED NEAR RESERVOIR

At a meeting of the Playground's committee with the Business Men's Association, the school board, and council yesterday afternoon a special committee consisting of John B. Schafer, C. O. Faye, and Dr. T. M. Paddis, was appointed to ascertain whether or not a site on the hill could be secured for a permanent playground. The site in question is one adjoining the reservoir.

These tetanus antitoxin stations will furnish the serum on the application of a physician who certifies that it is for the use of an indigent case. The doctor also agrees to furnish the State Department of Health with a clinical report of the case for tabulation and study.

The nearest points to this section where the anti-tetanus serum will be given out by the State is at Washington and Uniontown.

METHODISTS TRIM CATHOLICS IN A PRETTY CONTEST

The Methodists took over the Catholics by the score of 4 to 2 last night in a good rattling contest, in which errors were anything but prominent. The Methodists touched up Beno for 11 hits, but sensational fielding prevented them from running up a big score.

The Methodists scored their first run in the third inning on three singles by Wise, Proten and Riggs, and one in the fourth when Proten was walked, stole second, and made the total on P. Bege's single. Their last two came in the sixth on McKean's single, Buchanan's error, and Wise's single.

The Catholics started off well, scoring two runs in the first when O'Neil and Dietz tallied after being given walks. The score:

WORTH MOUNTAINS OF GOLD

During Change of Life,
says Mrs. Chas. Barclay

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered
from nervousness
and other annoying
symptoms, and I
can truly say that
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
has proved worth
mountains of gold to me, as it
restored my health
and strength. I
never forget to tell
my friends what
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me
during this trying period. Complete restoration of health has been mine that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish
this letter."—Mrs. CHAS. BARCLAY,
R.F.D. Graniteville, Vt.
No other medicine for woman's ills
has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures of female ills as Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
For more than 30 years it has been curing female complaints such as
inflammation, ulceration, local weaknesses, fibroid tumors, irregularities,
periodic pains, backache, indigestion
and nervous prostration, and it is
unequalled for carrying women safely
through the period of change of life.
It costs but little to try Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and,
as Mrs. Barclay says, it is "worth mountains of gold" to suffering women.

How to Cure, Pimples, Eczema
and Dandruff.

We desire to say that when we took
the agency for Zemo, we were convinced that it was a valuable remedy
for Eczema, pimples, and dandruff.
Yet, we must frankly admit that Zemo
has far exceeded our expectations as a treatment for skin diseases. We are pleased to state that we shall continue the agency as Zemo has given
splendid results wherever recommended. Our customers like Zemo too, because it is a clean vegetable liquid for external use.

Zemo effects its cures by drawing
to the surface of the skin and destroying the germ life that causes the disease, leaving the skin clear and healthy.
It does not soil the clothing or linen and can be used freely on infants.

With every purchase, we give a booklet on skin disease explaining in some words how any person can be cured at home of any form of skin or
scalp diseases by this clean, scientific remedy. Piper Bros.

A Judicial Favor.
A verdant local reporter whose propensities incline to daring rather than to judgment and whose ardency in the quest of news is one of his marked characteristics approached a judge of the United States district court and solicited a little advance information on a case in progress in the judge's court. "You see, judge," said the youngster to the astonished jurist, "we go to press in a few moments, and we all know your inclination to do a newspaper man a favor."
The venerable man eyed the youth sternly and said slowly and emphatically:
"That's fine, your honor. Thanks very much. Just a few lines will do."
"I will do you this favor. I shall not send you to jail this time, but if you ever approach me again with such a question your friends will not see you for some time."
The discomfited reporter retired ruminating on the mysteries of the law and the dignities pertaining to the judiciary.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Exclusiveness of Caste.
An English officer who some years ago was wounded in a battle in India and left for dead, was found by a native dead and wounded tells this story: "Next morning we spied a man and an old woman, who came to us with a basket and a pot of water, and to every wounded man she gave a piece of jowree bread from the basket and a drink from her water pot. To us she gave the same, and I thanked heaven and her. But the Sahibdar was a high caste Rajput, and, as this woman was a Chamar, or of the lowest caste, he would receive neither water nor bread from her. I tried to persuade him to take it that he might live, but he said that in our state, with but a few hours more to linger, what was a little more or less suffering to us—why should he give up his fate for such an object? No; he preferred to die unpolluted."

The Origin of Oxygen.
That eminent scientist Lord Kelvin maintained that all the oxygen in the atmosphere probably originated from the action of sunlight upon plants. When our earth was a globe of hot liquid it contained no vegetable fuel and probably no free oxygen. But as it cooled off plants appeared on its surface, and these began to evolve oxygen through the medium of the sunbeams. Upon the oxygen thus derived we depend for the maintenance of life by breathing. When we burn coal or other vegetable fuel we use up oxygen, and it is to plants again that we owe the restoration of the oxygen thus lost to the air. If they failed to keep up a sufficient supply the atmosphere would gradually part with its oxygen, and the inhabitants of the earth would disappear in consequence of asphyxiation.

Clyde Fitch's Joke.
"Clyde Fitch was an indefatigable worker," said an actor who has played in many of the Fitch comedies. "When he had a play on the stocks he would labor over it day and night, often scarcely pausing for his meals and getting very little sleep; consequently his health suffered. He would work until on the verge of a nervous breakdown, and then his physician would step in and force him to knock off."
"During one of these periods of enforced idleness he was lounging in the Players club one day when Harry B. Smith, the prolific comic opera librettist, strolled in.
"What are you doing now?" asked Smith.
"I am in my doctor's hands," replied Fitch. "He tells me I'm in a bad way and has absolutely forbidden me to do any brain work."
"That's tough," said Smith. "How do you manage to put in the time?"
"Oh, I'm writing the libretto of a musical comedy," replied Fitch, with one of his cynical smiles.—New York Times.

Hair Monstrosities.
French theater managers in the eighteenth century had worse evils than picture hats to contend against. Marie Antoinette, who was short even according to French standards, set the fashion of high coiffures, and ultra-fashionable women prided themselves on measuring four feet from their chins to the tops of their heads. These structures took about six hours to erect, the hairdresser mounting a ladder in the process. Some coiffures were almost as broad as they were long, with wings sticking out about eight inches on each side of the head. For the "frigate" coiffure the hair was rippled in a huge pile to represent the waves of an angry sea and surmounted by a fully rigged ship. As a consequence of these monstrosities disturbances in theaters occurred almost daily until an ordinance was issued against the admission of women with high coiffures to the floor of the house.—Chicago News.

Yet He Meant Well.
Just as the train was leaving the Fifty-eighth street elevated station a man who had got off there hurried along the platform and spoke to a passenger sitting by an open window in the smoking car.
"Quick!" he cried. "Please hand me that package. I left it on the seat when I got out just now."
"Sure," said the passenger, picking up the bundle and tossing it out of the window.
"Thanks!"
"Hey, there! What are you doing that for?" demanded the wrathful, red faced man sitting next to him.
"Why, he—"
Over the scene that followed let us draw a veil.—Chicago Tribune.

Stop and Consider

It is a well-established fact that at the People's Store you get honest-made clothing and they cost less than the inferior sort elsewhere. As a result of our recent successful, large cloth purchase of twenty-five to forty per cent. under market prices, the clothing we now offer for Men and Women is strictly hand-tailored and is positively the best qualities at prices lower than has ever been possible for such high-grade clothing.

Extraordinary Liberal Credit Terms

We wish it were possible for us to explain our modern credit charge system by different terms than the word "Credit", since nearly all the old-fashioned installment houses are using this expression. All we can say is that the kind of credit we offer is liberal and dignified in every respect, and has no embarrassing conditions. You simply select what you need and say "Charge it to my account." The most liberal credit ever known will be offered between now and July 4th.

Men's Strictly Tailored Fine Suits $14.95.

These suits at the above price have created a sensation. Some of our imitators are vainly trying to mislead the public by imitating our figures. All we ask of you is to intelligently compare them; examine the make of our suits; the fabrics are guaranteed all wool cashmeres, "True Blue" serges, and strictly pure worsteds. Try one on—see the graceful hang and perfect fit.

No Gag Rule

In direct opposition to the charges that the Republican State convention at Harrisburg was under the complete domination of bosses was the evidence of those who witnessed the proceedings. Probably every Charleroi man who visited Harrisburg on the excursion to root for his townsman, John K. Tener, the Republican nominee for Governor, witnessed the proceedings of the convention. Each and every one who was present will state that no attempt was made to apply gag rule, or to prevent competition in the nominations. There was nothing at any time to prevent any one of the nearly four hundred delegates present from making an objection to the proceedings, or to have interposed opposition. Every opportunity was given the convention for the nomination of other candidates before the nominations were closed.

There were 373 delegates or their proxies seated in the convention. These delegates were elected by the voters at the primary election, and their credentials were as sound and their representation as direct to the people as the successful candidates for Assembly chosen at the same election. That the party platform, resolutions and committee officers were prepared and slated in advance no one will deny—just as is always done at any and all conventions—but the delegates present could at any time have reversed or blocked proceedings had they been so disposed.

As a matter of fact the delegates were elected to represent the principles of Republicanism, and choose candidates to carry out their principles in the interests of the people. We in Charleroi know that no better exponent of these principles exist than in the person of John K. Tener.

A Modern Colossus

Since the editor of the Washington Observer and Reporter has created a political bogie out of James P. Mulvihill, every ill, even to the potato rot, is laid at the door of the latter. Commenting on this under the header of "A Modern Political Colossus," the Connellsville Courier says:

"The Washington Reporter blames the results of the Allentown Convention on one 'Jim' Mulvihill. Editor Acheson seems to think that Jim has much to answer for. He appears to be at the bottom of all kinds of Democratic and Republican evil. He bestrides Allentown and Harrisburg like a modern Colossus and his shadow sometimes falls athwart Atlantic City and stops the fish from biting. 'The Reporter' insinuates that Colonel Guffey and Senator Penrose receives their inspiration from Jim. We are led to believe that Mulvihill is a bigger man than Dave Hill used to be. He looms so largely on the political horizon that his name is evidently a misnomer. It ought to be Mulvimountain.

"Not the least of his terror and fascination lies in the great mystery of him and we constrained to inquire, Who is Jim? What is Jim? Why is Jim?"

The National Game.

As the season progresses interest in the Church Baseball League increases rather than diminishes, until the entire community has become as enthusiastic a brigade of fans as ever assembled at any of the National League or other professional games. Composed of clubs of every church denomination in the town—Protestant and Catholic—the players are noted for their gentlemanly conduct on the field and an entire freedom from rowdiness and contention that too frequently mars amateur baseball playing. Strangers who have witnessed the games have remarked upon the gentlemanly conduct of the players and the clean cut and athletic appearance of the young fellows who compose the various clubs. The different church congregations compose enthusiastic rooters for their respective teams, but the rivalry is good natured and proves stimulative instead of reactionary.

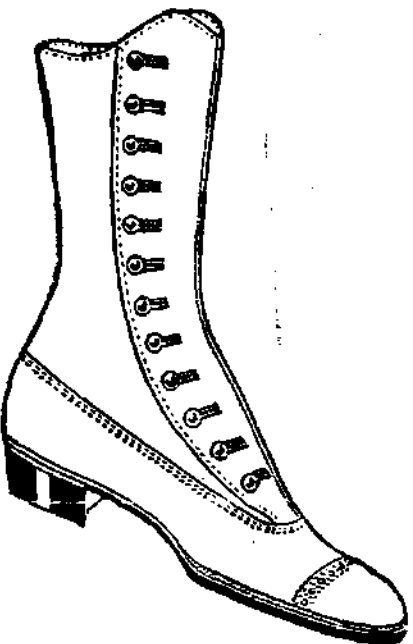

There was never an instance, perhaps, where the social and economic side of baseball was more strikingly demonstrated than by the Charleroi Church League. The eight clubs furnish contests enough to satisfy all, while the magnitude of the organization takes in about all the young fellows who like to play the game for the sport there is in it. Baseball is the cleanest imaginable sport, and is exciting enough and commands a degree of skill sufficient to call forth the best efforts of the players. The game affords a safe outlet for the sporting instinct that is inherent in the masculine element of the human family, and the entertainment it affords and the arrangement by which nearly all who desire can attend without neglect of duty, makes it a most effective civic movement for the community.

Acheson and some of his chief aids think that the man who tried to re-form Philadelphia, and whose chief ambition seems to be to knock what is, would make a good candidate for Governor.

The way a fellow sweats when he gets good and warm is evidence that while he may not exactly enjoy the weather, he feels it necessary to bow submissive to it. Otherwise he would go north.

"Sparkling plug" is the latest title applied to that thing they call a dude, which hangs around where there is marriageable daughters in the family.

The reason some people travel long distances by automobile is that the women folks can't conveniently carry their dog in the train.

When a man's wife threatens to go home to her mother if she doesn't get a new hat, and the hat is thereupon forthcoming, it is not always an evidence that he is bowing submissive to her will. It often is that the railroad fare is more than the price of a hat.

Secret For Secret. In the days of Louis XIV, even warriors bandied epigrams with one another.

The Maréchal de Grammont had taken a fortress by force. "I will tell you a secret," said its military governor after surrendering. "The reason of my capitulation was that I had no more powder."

"And, secret for secret," returned the maréchal snarling, "the reason of my accepting it on such easy terms was that I had no more balls."

Not So Absurd. "How absurd?"

"What's absurd?"

"Five years are supposed to have elapsed since the last act, and that man is wearing the same overcoat."

"Nothing absurd about that. He's taking the part of a married man, isn't he?"

Making a Lawn. On his English tour an American was admiring the smoothness of a certain lawn and being possessed of a lawn and an overpowering confidence that with money all things are possible he asked the head gardener how to produce such a lawn.

And the gardener said, "It's easy enough sir. All you need do is to remove all the stones, plow up the ground, plant it with grass seed and wait for 300 years."

Our Friends. If we choose our friends for what they are, not for what they have, and if we deserve so great a blessing, then they will be always with us, preserved in absence and even after death in the amber of memory—Cicero.

Couldn't Talk. De Style—You say that loving pair of deaf mutes were sitting in the parlor and didn't carry on a conversation?

Gumbasta—They couldn't, for they were holding hands—New York Press

I never knew an early rising hard-working prudent man careful of his earnings and strictly honest who complained of bad luck—Addison.

Got Another Copy.

A well dressed man was standing outside a bookseller's shop in Charing Cross, London, examining one of Balzac's works illustrated by Gustave Doré. "How much is this Balzac?" he asked an assistant outside.

"Twenty-five shillings," was the reply.

"Oh, that's far too much. I must see the manager about a reduction," continued the prospective customer, and, sulking the action to the word, he took up the book and went into the shop.

Approaching the bookseller, he took the book from under his arm and asked what he would give for it. "Seven shillings highest offer," he was told.

The offer was accepted, the man took his money and left.

"Well," queried the assistant later, after the man had gone, "were you able to hit it off with the gentleman?"

"Oh, yes. I managed to get another copy of that edition of Balzac for 7 shillings."

Then the bookseller went out to lodge a complaint with the police—London Telegraph.

A Victim of Leprosy.

"On my travels in Venezuela," said a New York man, "I stayed in a hotel with a young man in whose family leprosy was prevalent. He apparently did not have it. One night sitting at dinner he became angry at a waiter and brought his hand down on the table with full force. He instantly realized that he did not feel the blow and sat looking at his hand, his face whitening with horror. 'Give me your knife, Bob,' he said to his clerk. He grabbed the pocket knife in a frenzy and stabbed the side of his hand with vicious cuts from finger tip to wrist. You may not know that leprosy appears in the side of the hand numbness being a sign. The man did not feel the cuts. He arose from the table, knocking over his chair, rushed out into the courtyard of the hotel, and we heard the quick tang of a revolver shot, telling us how he had conquered the leper's curse by ending his life."—New York Times.

He Could Wield an Ax.

The skill of the old Maine shipbuilders in the use of the adze and broadax was wonderful. One old time yarn is of a carpenter who applied very drunk at a shipyard for employment. In order to have a little fun with him the foreman set him to give a proof of his skill by leaving out a wooden bolt with no chopping block but a stone. The carpenter accomplished his difficult task without marring the keen edge of the broadax and showed the foreman a nearly made bolt. Then he brought the ax down with a terrific blow that shattered its edge upon the stone. "I can hew fast here on your chopping block," he uncoughed, "but I'll be blamed if I can make the ax stick in it when I get through." The story runs that the foreman lost no time in employing such a workman.

Judges' Wigs.

The wig is only worn by English barristers to give them a stern judicial appearance, and no one can say that it fails in this respect. The custom was originated by a French judge in the seventeenth century when, happening to don a marquis' wig one day, he found it gave him such a stern and dignified appearance that he decided to get one for himself and wear it at all times in court. Thus he did, and the result was so satisfactory from a legal point of view that not only judges, but barristers also, took up the custom throughout Europe.—London Graphic

Acquitted.

"Sir," said the young woman, with what seemed to be indignation. The young man looked embarrassed. "Yes, I did kiss you," he admitted. "But I was impulsively insane."

"That means that a man would be a lunatic to kiss me?"

"Well, any man of discretion would be just crazy to kiss you."

This seemed to end the strain, and, no jury being present to muddle affairs, a satisfactory verdict was reached.

Suspicious Routine.

Good Man—Ah, my poor fellow, I feel sorry for you! Why don't you work? When I was young, for ten years I was never in bed after 5—an hour's work before breakfast, then five hours' work, then dinner, then four hours' more work, then supper, then bed, then up again at 5 the next morning—

His Question.

Edgar, aged six, was recently sent to school for the first time, and upon his return home he asked, "Papa, who taught Adam the alphabet?"

His Athletic Neighbor.

A young man inmate of a boarding house had been disturbed night after night by the boarder in the next room doing things with a punching bag—rigged up in the room some way. At breakfast each morning the young man would look over the crowd and wonder who the bag puncher might be, but there was no one in sight but a bunch of women and eight or ten men with narrow chests and retreating chins. One night he made up his mind to knock on the bag punching room's door and ask him to put over his exercise until daylight when all the world's awake. The man might be small enough to bulldoze even with all his athletics. The door opened and there, clad in a tight fitting red jersey, was a robust, burly woman of perhaps thirty summers.

"And what did you say to her?" the young man was asked.

"I was so startled," replied he, "that I asked what afterward seemed to me the most natural request I could have made. I asked her if she'd lend me a couple of watches."—Cleveland Plain Dealer

The Persistence of Colds.

Why is it that we are so heavily subject to colds? Other epidemic diseases—measles, typhoid, scarlet fever, and there is an end; it is not usual to have any of them twice. We know in our blood immunity. The poison of the disease enters in its proper antidote. Our blood cells make a sort of natural antitoxin and keep it in stock, so that we are henceforth protected against the disease. A well vaccinated child, for example, works with safety in a smallpox hospital, where the very air is infectious, but his blood is so changed by vaccination that the smallpox cannot affect her. By scarlet fever, again, we are, as it were, vaccinated against scarlet fever. The reaction of our blood against the disease immunizes us. No such result follows influenza or a common cold. We brew nothing that is permanent. We are just as susceptible to a later invasion as we were to the invasion that is just over.—London Spectator

The Festive Codfish.

A correspondent of the New York Post says that the codfish frequents "the tablelands of the sea." The codfish no doubt does this to secure as nearly as possible a dry, bracing atmosphere. This pure air of the submarine tablelands gives to the codfish that breadth of chest and depth of lungs that we have so often noticed. The glad, free smile of the codfish is largely attributed to the exhilaration of this oceanic altitudinism. The correspondent further says that the "codfish subsists largely on the sea cherry." Those who have not had the pleasure of seeing the codfish climb the cherry tree in search of food or clubbing the fruit from the heavily laden branches with chunks of coral have missed a very fine sight. The codfish when at home rambling through the submarine forests does not wear his vest unbuttoned as he does while loafing around the sea cherry trees of the United States.—Bill Nye

A High Priced Fricassee.

Lord Alvanley, a noted wit and high liver in England a hundred years or so ago, insisted on having an apple tart on his dinner table every day throughout the year. On one occasion he paid a caterer $100 for a luncheon put up in a basket that sufficed a small boarding party going up the Thames. Being one of a dozen men dining together at a London club where each was required to produce his own dish, Alvanley's, as the most expensive, won him the advantage of being entertained free of cost. This benefit was gained at an expense of $540, that being the price of a simple fricassee composed entirely of the "noix" or small pieces at each side of the back, taken from thirteen kinds of birds, among them being 100 snipe, 40 woodcocks and 20 pheasants—in all about 240 birds.

Our Eccentric Phrases.

Why do we always talk of putting on a coat and vest? Who puts on a coat before a vest? We also say putting on shoes and stockings. Who puts on shoes before the stockings? We also put up signs telling people to wipe their feet when we wear their boots or shoes. And a father tells a boy he will warm his jacket when he means to warm his pajamas. We are a little eccentric in our phrases at times.

An Odd Epitaph.

The following epitaph is to be found in a cemetery within seven miles of New York's city hall.

Reader, pass on, don't waste your time. Over bad biography and bitter rhyme. For what I am this crumbling clay insures. And what I was is no affair of yours.

In the Game.

"I am in the hands of my friends," said the political sidestepper. "Yes," replied the harsh critic, "and every time your friends look over their hands they seem impatient for a new deal."—Washington Star.

The Proper Tree.

Curious Charley—Do nuts grow on trees, father? Father—They do, my son. Curious Charley—Then what tree does the doughnut grow on? Father—The "pantree," my son.—Purple Cow.

Never Goes.

Fogg—That's a bad cold you have, old man. Peuderson—Did you ever hear of a good cold, you idiot?—Boston Transcript.

A fool's heart is in his tongue, but a wise man's tongue is in his heart.—Quarles.

More Goods, More Business

We are constantly adding more goods to our stock, adding new lines as to the need of our membership. Our $400.00 stock of groceries of 8 years ago would look mighty small compared with our $8000.00 stock of today. Year ago we created our dry goods department; lately we added a full line of men's, women's and children's shoes. We are now preparing to add a feed department. And we will keep on adding for some time to come. There is no limit to the power of co-operation.
